

3Cs: Communications, Checklists, and Comments Release 9.0

Course (2 Days)

The 3Cs are comprised of Communications, Checklists, and Comments. This two-day class teaches participants how to set up and secure communications, checklists, and comments. The instructor will walk through an example of creating an XML Report Definition used to send emails from the Communication Generation process. Each of the 3Cs can be assigned manually or by using the 3C Engine. Participants will learn how to do both. The four different methods available to update checklist items will be discussed. Participants will see how checklists can be viewed using self-service. Through hands-on activities and a workshop, participants will create instances of the 3Cs that they will be able to use at their institution.
